

Quick Witch Hat

3 x 260

1 x White Scrap

Variation

*Restrict the first two inches of a skin tone 260 and inflate the balloon to the tip. Tie the lip. Bend the tip end of the balloon and make a 5" bubble to form the witch's nose.

*Stop the first two inches of the balloon inflating. One way to do this is to push a the balloon lip and a couple of inches over the pump nozzle so the balloon inflates beyond.

Continue with a 1½" bubble and a 1" pinch twist.

Make two 4" bubbles. Lock-twist them together. Position the pinch-twist on one side of the lock-twisted bubbles and the nose and 1 ½" bubble on the other side.

Inflate the white scrap and make two ½" bubbles. Wrap them into the 5" nose as shown.

Stretch the 1 ½" bubble and eyes up to the top of two lock-twisted 4" bubbles and wrap the eyes in.

Remove the remaining flesh balloon. Inflate a black 260 balloon leaving a 4" tip. Wrap the lip knot in between the eyes. Make a 1" bubble followed by a soft 6" loop.

Position the 6" loop over the 1" bubble and over the eyes. Make a soft 8" loop and position this down to the bottom of the head.

Continue with a soft 4" loop and a soft 6" loop. Position the smaller loop to the top and the bigger loop to the bottom.

Finish the witch's hat by making two bubbles with the remaining inflated length of balloon. The first bubble should be bigger than the second bubble.

Pull the end of the balloon through the two bottom loops and wrap it into the pinch twist at the base of the witch's face.

Your witch should look like this.

Inflate the remaining black 260 leaving a 1" tip. Find the middle of the balloon and make a loop to fit the head. The two end bubbles will be the arms

Twist the arms into the pinch twist at the base of the face. Make a black pinch twist between the arms.

Using the skin tone balloon you removed earlier, make a loop and a pinch twist x 2 and attach to the end of the arms to form simple hands.

Draw a face on the witch.

Note that eyebrows that go down to the middle look more menacing.

This is how your witch should look.

Here is a little variation. I have just added a body and taken a loop from the base of the skirt. This will work as a free standing model too.

Instead of adding the loop and arms at the base of the head, inflate the black 260 balloon leaving a 4" tip. Make a 5" arm bubble and wrap it in under the head. Then make a 1" pinch twist.

To form the skirt, make one 6" bubble followed by two 2" bubbles and another 6" bubble. Lock twist the 6" bubbles together.

Continue with a 4" bubble which is twisted in between the 2" bubbles. Then make a 2" and a 6" bubble. Wrap the 6" bubble in at the top under the pinch twist.

The remaining length of balloon will be the second arm. Just adjust the length so it matches the first arm. Either stop at this point and draw the face on or add hands or...

Add a loop to the back to make it a wearable.
